WELCOME

Shanghai and Kunming golf courses are rated as some of the best golf courses in China and it's no wonder with the spectacular scenery that these courses offer.

This package gives you a great sample of China golf with 2 games of golf in Shanghai, 2 games of golf in Kunming and 1 spectacular game in Lijiang at Jade Dragon Snow Mountain Golf Club. Famously ranked in Times Magazine top 10 toughest courses around the world, and at 7,816 m long (situated at 3100m /10,800 ft. above sea level, the second highest in the world and the highest in Asia), it is the longest par 72 golf course in the world. Thanks to the elevation and thin air of the Himalayas (oxygen masks are provided in the golf carts) the ball flies some 15%-20% farther than normal. Jade Dragon Snow Mountain Golf Club is a must-play if you're visiting Kunming to play golf.

The highest in the world is La Paz GC, Bolivia at the dizzying height of 3300 meters (10,800 ft.). The third to the fifth golf courses are all in Colorado, U.S.A. that are around 2900 meters (9,500 ft.). A golf course of the height of 4700 meters (14,335 ft.) in Peru used to be the No.1 in the world but due to its nose-bleeding altitude, it has now been abandoned.

 After golf, take a short tour in Lijiang Old Town. The Old Town of Lijiang represents a fusion of indigenous Naxi architecture and culture with external influences. The ancient network of waterways supplied by the mountain springs, cobbled streets, bridges and houses add to the picturesque of this ancient town that is a popular tourist town in China.
